Comparison Methodology

- The same 19 windows, measurements, mounts, controls and valances at every vendor; 28 motors in all.
- Fabrics are each vendor's nearest equivalent, not the same cloth. Noori is one price, on high-end fabrics. The Shade Store and Blinds To Go are priced on mid-range fabrics; "up to" is the same order on their most expensive fabrics.
- Prices are from each vendor's own website on 6 and 7 October 2026, after their current promotions: 25 % off motorized shades at The Shade Store, 25 % off at Blinds To Go. Noori's 40 % discount is part of the proposal.
- Sales tax at 9 % for all three.

Keep in Mind

- Noori builds a dual roller as one product. The Shade Store and Blinds To Go do not offer one, so each dual window is priced there as two single rollers with one valance.
- The Shade Store's price does not include the hub for app and voice control. Remotes are included.
- Blinds To Go's price does not include remotes, the hub, measurement or installation. Its installation price is not published; it is quoted through a design consultant, and independent cost guides put it at about $75 to $350 per window. It has no showroom or in-home service in California.
- Family Room windows 1 and 2 are under 21 in wide, below the motor minimum at both vendors; they are priced motorized for comparison. The Family Room slider and the Kitchen are wider than Blinds To Go's 88 in maximum and are priced as two shades each.

Appendix

Every window at every vendor. Open a vendor to see what was priced.

– Noori

Dual rollers as one product on every two-layer window: solar or sheer in front, light filtering or room darkening behind, one wood valance wrapped in the shade fabric. Battery motors, two smart hubs, five remotes.

1. Motorization: Noori figures from the motor manufacturer's specification sheet (noise under 35 dB) and hub guide. The Shade Store: roller shade configurator and motorized collection page, October 2026. Blinds To Go: motorized window treatments page; smart home platforms from the Bond Bridge maker's site and driver listings, October 2026. Motor price is the list price of the motor alone, per shade. Smart home compatible means the vendor's hub works with Apple Home, Samsung SmartThings, Google Home and Amazon Alexa; Control4 and Crestron need third-party drivers at Blinds To Go.
2. Price Comparison: "Up to" is the same windows on each vendor's most expensive fabrics. Noori: the proposal's price detail; the discount is applied to shades, motors, hub and accessories and to installation. The Shade Store: price group B fabrics, up to group C; this week's prices from its website, motorized shades 25 % off, installation 15 % of motorized and 10 % of chain shades. Blinds To Go: Leyton, Leyton blackout and Dubai 3 % fabrics, up to Mombassa, Mombassa blackout and Dubai 3 %; this week's prices from its website, 25 % off.
